NOTES

At most one of the two courses for the qualifying examination can be exempted and the rules are as follows:

1. The application for the qualifying examination exemption should be filed NO LATER than the end of the 5th semester after the student enters the program.
2. The course must be in graduate level and provided by the full-time faculty member of EECS.
3. The threshold for qualifying examination exemption is that the final grade of the course should be more than or equal to (\geq) 80 and among the top 25% of that class of the course.
4. The application should be filed with the consent of the student's advisor.
5. The exemption is effective after the evaluation and approval of EECS Academic Evaluation Committee (AEC).

Note: The applicant's transcript should be enclosed with the application.
